Obregon Holds Outrage Is Most Deplorable Plot of Political Career

United Press Staff Correspondent MEXICO CITY, Aug. 5 .- Four of the Agrarista bandits who shot and killed Mrs. Rosalie Evans, woman ranch owner and a British subject, were captured by federal scouts yesterday and summarily executed, according to private messages here today.

Mrs. Evans was murdered as she was returning to her ranch in Puebla Saturday, and the payroll she was carrying was stolen.

Meantime the government was UU active in investigating the tragedy, believing it may have been inspired by political plotters.

"The assassination of Mrs. Evans was planned in San Antonio, Texas," the newspaper El Sol said, intimating the crime was part of a plan of one of the revolutionary juntas to embarrass the Obregon

A brief case belonging to Judge Arthur Keetch, left in the cigar stand over night, was ripped open and its contents rifled. Fingerprints were to be

Pushing Back the Wall

"HE vast territory covered I by these lines at once strikes the observer, and some conception may be had of the importance of the long distance telephone in the business world of the east."

This was the contemporary comment of a scientific journal on the long distance telephone service of 1890. The "vast territory" ended with Pittsburgh on the west and Washington on the south. Along its frontier stood a wall of silence.

No such barrier now confines

the voice of man. To places and to people he has never even seen fly his wire-borne thoughts. Over distances which it would take him days to travel his words speed in an instant.

The 90,000 miles of toll wire of 1890 have grown to more than 4,500,000 miles carrying a daily average of more than 1,600,000 long distance conversations.

Thus has the wall of silence been pushed back to the edges of the continent. In its place is a nation-wide telephone service.

The Advertising Censor

In a quiet office he spends his day.

Before him are heaped the announcements of what the world is selling—what you expect to buy today or tomorrow—sooner or later.

With the same degree of caution with which the editor censors the news on the front page, this advertising censor analyzes the advertisements scheduled for publication.

A newspaper is responsible for the advertising it contains in the same manner that it is accountable for its report on a session of Congress—a speech by the President—or a summary of trade conditions. The policy of this paper is to protect its readers—to give them dependable news in advertising as it gives them accurate news of the world's activities.

You can read and heed the advertising in this newspaper with confidence that what you see is truthful. Misleading and exaggerated statements have been carefully deleted. Each advertisement passes the "acid test" of respectability, integrity and sincerity. You can buy freely and confidently from the advertising in this newspaper.

Auxiliary Port Planned For Newport; Similar Pro- . jects Successful

Orange county harbor, as a subsidiary to Los Angeles harbor, is justified by the shipping tonnage that is available from Orange, Riverside and San Bernardino counties, in the opinion of the sub-committee on shipping of the Orange county harbor committee of fifty, as expressed in a tentative report approved by the subcommittee, according to informa-tion available today.

'Our investigation situated near other large ports have convinced us that Orange county harbor may become an important subsidiary for Los Angeles harbor and is a project that is worthy the full and enthusiastic support of every taxpayer in Orange county," said D. Eyman Huff, chairman of the committee. Other members of the committee include A. Knapp of Garden Grove, and

Jake E. Schumacher of Anaheim. According to the tentative report, which, it was expected would ome the committee's final report to the committee of fifty, in Orange, Riverside and San Bernar lino counties there are available to Orange county harbor outbound tonnage of 185,441 tons, valued at $9,807,594, and inbound shipments totalling 350,276 tons valued at $113,459,416. The figures, the committee report says, were taken from the official report of the United States district engineer at

Los Angeles. 'Our committee," Huff continned, "was asked to make investigations as to the possibility of success of smaller ports located in the vicinity of much larger shipping centers, as is the case of Orange county harbor in relation to Los Angeles harbor."

It seems to me that in the training of children even up to adult age. more interest and attention should be given to recreation and amusement. I would speak in particular with regard to the moving picture, the automobile and the printed page. I am not convinced that laws or public censorship will meet those in the business concerned as well as a large percentage of the public.

The recent report of the committee of 15 appointed two years ago by the California Teachers association to investigate and report on the conditions of the high schools of the state presents some startling statements, to say the least. I have not seen the complete report and am not in position to give a critical opinion as to its details. a critical opinion as to its details, pict in minute details all sorts of but have no doubt that the general crimes and social misdemeanors. report given by the newspapers is Grant that the criminal character fully supported by the feet of the second social misdemeanors. or the moral pervert in the picture The account as published cer-tainly makes a scathing criticism mind of the child is more forcibly of the schools, particularly as to main part of the film than by the their failure to meet modern constriking dramatic features of the

It might mean the reorganization of the school curriculum as well as methods of administration and instruction. The schools, like the theater and the newspaper are subject to, and deneartily agree as to this latter pendent upon public opinion. The trouble now is too much legislation in school matters. There are no less than 27 different subjects required by law to be taught in the elementary schools, not consider ing the many scores of subjects taught in the high schools. A member of the legislature can us ually succeed in adding a new subject, merely upon his personal opinions and wishes, regardless of public opinion. If the 27 subjects above referred to, could be scrambled and made into an educational omelet of aims and principles it would not only prove palatable, but digestible and nourishing as well. It is hoped that the commit tee recently appointed by State Superintendent Wood to propose a revision of the laws governing "statutory subjects" will meet their responsibilities to the satisfaction of the public. In the mean-time, if local support and influence can be accorded those engaged in measures of educational reform, it will be the most potent factor available in meeting pres-
